I am deeply concerned that the recent resolution to the Microsoft anti-trust issue does not adequately address the needs and rights of the people. From what I have read the PFJ does not even address the concerns raised by the Appeals Court. The current PFJ smacks of back room dealing for the benefit of influential people and to the detriment of the consumer at large. Any resolution to this matter must seek a balance between short and long term needs. Above all we MUST support free competition and the innovation that it fosters.
